A Quick About Face!

Since referring to people who live in lifestyle villages as “inmates”, Brian and Anna Keys have been forced to eat their words. And as we discovered when we paid them a visit recently, they’re enjoying every mouthful.

“When we first started looking at a long term plan to move from our large Kumeu property, we referred to people who lived in other lifestyle villages as ‘inmates’. And then we discovered Settlers Albany at an open weekend and suddenly everything changed. We fell in love with the spaces, the use of colour reflecting the natural environment and the friendliness of the neighbours,” says Anna.

Neighbours who now share the joke, introducing themselves as “the inmates from cell number...”. Jokes aside, Settlers certainly bears no relation to your old-school retirement home or cellblock style high-rises. It’s a vibrant, secure lifestyle village with million dollar facilities.

“The contemporary design, layout and space set this lifestyle village apart from the many others we visited,” says Brian, an architect himself.

Anna, an astute businesswoman with many years in the building supplies industry, appreciated the obvious quality of the build, attention to detail and the value for money it represented.

We have to admit, the Keys’ brand new, luxurious Lucas apartment is a stunner. Stylish, sunny and spacious with a large patio and magnificent bush views over Kell Park reserve. It’s also large enough to display their art collection and entertain friends and family.

Both Brian and Anna are still actively involved in their professions and former community – Kumeu Lions, Kumeu Community Patrol, and golf, with Anna on the board of Redwood Park Golf Club. Making Settlers location, with its easy motorway access, a huge plus. Perfect also for a quick getaway north to Managawhai to enjoy a day’s fishing from their boat.

Settlers Albany impressed us when it opened five years ago. This visit to see Brian and Anna’s newly completed Lucas apartment building shows they’ve raised the bar yet again.

TO A NEW LEVEL OF LUXURY

“I’ve never been one to settle for second best so before I invested in a home at a lifestyle village I looked around. More space, better facilities, great location. No contest. This is what you call retirement living.” Precious McKenzie
